“The best aspect (of this course) was being able to work at my own pace and at times that suited me. E-Learning is wonderful for those of us who are a great distance from training venues”

Australian Participant (Lone Guider), 2013

Communication happened, understanding happened and learning also happened - that's when I saw what e-learning is about”

World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts

For over 100 years Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting has been developing leaders across 145 countries. A total of 250 million girls and women have benefited from the opportunities and experiences offered by Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting.

Now, the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts is offering its unique and global expertise in leadership online, through our internationally recognized e-learning platform GLOW (Global learning online for WAGGGS).

In a recent survey on leadership, 70 per cent of respondents think girls and women face more difficulties than boys and men in reaching positions of leadership where they live

Almost 100 per cent of respondents shared that Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting helped them to develop their leadership skills
